

How to patent an invention or idea?

Head is full of ideas and creative thoughts and some of them can lead to real wealth Innovative solutions which the market does not yet exist and there is a demand for them can be a goldmine. As such, the idea of a patent is impossible. So if you want to feel the money in his pocket will be optimal patenting of useful model, industrial sample before the new invention see the light. If you figured out a technical problem in a certain area and it belongs to the product device, substance, culture of plant or animal cell strain of microorganisms method or in other words, the implementation of the action on the object material with the use of the material. This solution must be new and useful to business and it can be applied in practice. It is considered as new if it is unknown from the prior art. Moreover, during the evaluation of the technical level will take into account any publicly available global information, even those which have not been used widely but has been patented prior to the date of birth of your invention. What is the meaning meant by useful invention Is a method of technical solutions in different spheres of human activities relevant to the device. It should be new and applicable technically. You can patent industrial design for example, art and design solution which characterizes the appearance of the subject on the grounds of the defining features of a combination of colors form the ornament of the original configuration. But to patent the service is not possible as this law enforcement document is issued only to the technical or the artistic-design solution. But the way of the provision of services if it is new original or has the level of invention can be patented. If your invention can be the object of industrial property and has already received official recognition from the experts, you have the right to state protection in the legal field by obtaining a patent of a special law enforcement document. All the issues of patenting and protection of intellectual property is regulated by law and the basic document is part 4 of the civil code. The main factor determining the idea which can capture the market and generate income is innovation. The idea can be born as the result of unexpected events which will serve as the impetus for the creation of unique opportunities. Innovative ideas can come from observations of the world around us and some of the inconsistencies you have observed can be a source of interesting decisions. A good example is

Link to article:: How to patent an invention or idea?